Thank you to our Rep Partners for another successful year of Greenheck HVAC University for Engineers and Architects. We continue to receive many positive reviews from your engineers and architects regarding the programs.

In 2019, we will offer 11 sessions of HVAC University for Engineers. If you have not taken the opportunity to have your engineers attend one of these educational events, this is a great time to start discussing a 2019 visit. The topics covered include HVAC product application, energy efficiency, codes, standards and industry trends. Professional Development Hours (PDH) are issued for completed courses and engineers have the ability to earn ten PDH credits or more during the trip.
