SUBJECT: We need your vote to win!
HVLS Fan "Product of the Year" Finalist

Consulting Specifying Engineer (CSE) conducts a Product of the Year (POY) awards program each year. Manufacturers submit products that were introduced in the past year. CSE is one of the engineering publications where Greenheck consistently advertises.

Greenheck was notified that our HVLS fan was selected as a finalist in this year's HVAC category.

Voting rules

Only qualified Consulting-Specifying Engineer subscribers are eligible to vote. Any votes received from non-qualified participants will not be counted. Only one vote per qualified subscriber. If more than one ballot per qualified subscriber is submitted, none of the ballots from that subscriber will be counted. Manufacturers of the products are not eligible to vote.

If you are not currently receiving the print publication or one of their newsletters you need to subscribe. Click here to subscribe.

If you receive one of their publications, click here to vote.

Voting closes on Friday, June 28, 2019. Winners will be announced in the September edition and online.

Winning this award will be used in our marketing of the HVLS, which contributes to your sales effort.

We would appreciate your vote!
