TO: All Greenheck Representatives
 FROM: Keri Johnson, Product Manager, Digital Solutions
 Sue Wirkus, Manager Customer Care Team
 DATE: June 21, 2021
 SUBJECT: My Account Lead Time Enhancement

We are launching a new experience for lead time information on the My Account portal on Monday, June 28. This new interactive experience will offer the ability to search for the current lead time by model instead of searching through a static PDF; however, the static PDF version will still be available.

Order Management

LEAD TIMES

How long will it take to get my order?

Greenheck publishes a weekly lead time schedule for most orders. The schedule is an estimation of time it takes to build products and breaks down the lead time by type and model of products. Products manufactured in multiple locations have the lead time broken down by each location.

Never wonder about your order status. Check the schedule anytime. As always, we want to help you win your bid; so, check with the factory if lead time is critical to the sale.

In addition to your interactive experience for lead time, we have also simplified the lead times to show only one lead time per model and not by location. Please note. The model's plant location still displays when viewing orders in My Account/My Orders so that you still know the location from where it's coming. The estimated ship date will still be displayed and will appear on your order acknowledgement, so nothing will be changing regarding how we present your ship date.
