SUBJECT: 2022 HVAC University Schedule

Thank you for making our virtual HVAC University classes a success over the past two years. We plan to continue offering virtual HVAC University classes and are excited to resume in-person HVAC University events in Schofield this year.

We will offer nine in-person sessions of HVAC University for Engineers in 2022. If you have not taken the opportunity to have your engineers attend these educational events, this is a great time to start discussing a 2022 visit to Schofield. The topics covered include HVAC product application, energy efficiency, codes, standards and industry trends. Professional development hours (PDH) are issued for completed courses. Engineers can earn up to 10 PDH credits during the trip. Greenheck is an approved continuing education provider in all 50 states and Canada.
