Raksha Bandhan

Raksha Bandhan is a festival that celebrates the bond of a brother and sister. It is observed on the last day of the Hindu lunar calendar month of Shraavana (4th month of Hindu Calendar), which typically falls in August. In Sanskrit, the expression "Raksha Bandhan" means, "the bond of protection, obligation, or care." On this day, sisters of all ages tie a talisman, or amulet, called the Rakhi, around the wrists of their brothers, symbolically protecting them, receiving a gift in return, and traditionally investing the brothers with a share of the responsibility of their potential care.
