

Greenheck Project Profiles To Help Win Your Next Job

Greenheck's wide selection of Project Profiles can help you document how Greenheck products were successfully specified and installed in schools, hospitals, restaurants, offices, hotels, condos, government buildings, warehouses and many other types of buildings.

Project profiles are a powerful way to show your customers how Greenheck products can enhance any building project by saving energy, reducing sound and optimizing performance.

Order Your Project Profiles Online or Let Us Produce One for You

You can order existing Project Profiles on RepNet. Or we would be happy to create one about an exciting building project you have just completed. Log on to RepNet and complete the online information form under Sales and Training—Project Profile. We will write it, design it and print it. You just provide a signed photo/video release and the project information. Earn $100 for a regular project and $200 for a LEED project.

What You Can Do With A Completed Project Profile

- Frame it and present it to your customer, and key staff members.
- Share it with local print media as the basis for an article on the accomplishment of your firm.
- Add it to a folder/binder of other project profiles and take it with you on every sales call.
- Send it to current and prospective clients.

Find your Project Profile information form at RepNet

Questions? Contact Sara.Valiska@greenheck.com

Build credibility for your rep organization by letting the market know you are associated with impressive building projects.

Document your product knowledge and skills in meeting HVAC challenges.

Celebrate your customers' efforts and the value of teamwork.

Gain recognition among your peers. More than half of these profiles have been featured in national trade media.